THE GREEKS DEFEATED

Turks Gain Possession of Milouma Pass.

HILLSIDES STREWN WITH DEAD.

King George's Troops Victorious at Reveni—Greek Steamer Sunken.

copyright 1897 by the Associated Press.

ELASOSA, Headquarters of the Turkish army in Macedonia, April 18.—(Delayed in transmission).—After a most fatiguing day with the headquarters' staff in the Milouma pass the correspondent of the Associated Press has returned here. The battle, resulting in giving the Turks possession of Milouma pass, was waged with admirable courage and determination on both sides. The whole pass ran with the roar of artillery and the rattle of musketry. It was, however, around the two Greek blockhouses that the most furious conflict occurred. They were defended with the most valor and tenacity. The correspondent was greatly struck with the coolness and discipline of the Turks. In the midst of the hottest firing four Turkish soldiers, advancing in skirmishing order under a deadly fire, became detached from the main body. Nevertheless they continued to advance until perfect self-possession enabled them to bullet. One of the men was hit and fell, then the second came up and shot him, and the third received a bullet wound, but the fourth, calmly continued living without regard for his personal safety, until the Greeks retired.

The most important Greek blockhouse near Kritchou was strongly garrisoned and defended by earthworks. The Turks mostly attacked in skirmishing order, firing independently. They seldom fired volleys. The scene while the engagement was at its height was exceedingly picturesque. Edian Pasha, surrounded by a brilliant staff, was the center of a striking group with the constantly going and coming of orderlies carrying reports, instructions, etc.

The ambulance corps was busy in every direction, bringing in the wounded, whose faces were black with powder and covered with blood.

Edian Pasha had followed every phase of the fighting through a field glass, giving orders and receiving reports with imperturbable indifference. It was noticed that many of the reports were scribbled on scraps of paper stained with blood. The officers and men alike were black with the dust of battle and had not slept, shaved, or washed for two days and nights. Edian Pasha, commanding the Turkish artillery, is a man of majestic presence. He exhibited great coolness in placing his batteries and in directing their fire. It is believed that tomorrow's fighting must be decisive. Several additional batteries of artillery and battalions of infantry have arrived to take part in the great combat of tomorrow (Monday).

AIRPORT.—(Evening).—The Turkish forces continue to hold the Milouma pass, though it is reported that the Greeks are advancing or making ready to advance to reoccupy the positions from which they were dislodged on Sunday. The two block houses have been strongly fortified and it would take a powerful body of Greek troops to capture them. Edian Pasha, who has entrenched himself on all the heights from Papaylos to Milouma and strong bodies of troops are stationed in the defiles between those two points. The inhabitants of Elasos have left the town on mass and are pushing northward, many of them going to Salonica. Evidently they fear that the Greeks will defeat the Turks and actually reach this place. Edian Pasha, the Turkish commander-in-chief, is a man of great energy and caution. He attended assiduously to his duties more than any member of his staff, residing mostly while on horseback and attends to trifling details with much care as to important movements. His manner is grave and imperious. It is curious to note how implicitly he is looked upon by his troops.

LASOSA, April 19.—The Greeks have defeated the Turks at Reveni, the two Greek brigades have entered Turkish territory in different directions and proceeded to Damsa, northeast of Vardar. Another division is trying to flank the Turks who are retreating in disorder.

Heavy fighting is in progress at Grivelzova. It has been going on since noon. The Greeks are trying to recapture the place.

SALONICA, April 19.—A Turkish torpedo boat has sunk the Greek steamer Athens in the gulf of Salonica. On board were insurgents and members of various secret societies. A general panic prevails here. All the vessels are prohibited from leaving the gulf. The Turks have seized the Greek steamer Kikalopion.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 19.—The Imperial Ottoman bank has offered the government to establish at Elasos a hospital and maintain at its own expense a hospital for the wounded.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 19.—Referring to the formation of an alliance between Bulgaria, Servia and Montenegro, it is semi-officially reported out-to-day that the last being formed is not only for the protection of the governments named against Turkey and Austria, but against pan-Hellenic aspirations in the Balkan peninsula. Therefore, it is added, Greece is unable to count upon any support in the present conflict from the countries indicated, and moreover, their respective ministers have positively assured Russia that their government will maintain strict neutrality.

GREEK MINISTER'S REPLY.

Responsibility Can in no Way Rest With Greece.

ATHENS, April 19.—M. Skouros, the Greek minister of foreign affairs, has sent a reply to the note which Asim Bey, the retiring Turkish minister, handed to him, announcing that "in consequence of the aggressive attitude of Greece, diplomatic relations between the king of the Hellenes, the sultan of Turkey and their respective governments were broken off."

M. Skouros, in his answer, says: "In view of the fact that Greece, far from proceeding to acts of hostility against Turkey, has had to suffer during the last few days from repeated acts of aggression on the part of the Turkish army at several points on the frontier. Owing to the conflict at the Proprietor's Hill on March 29th the royal government draw the attention of the imperial government to the attitude of the Turkish troops, but instead of yielding to the spirit of moderation dictating the step, the imperial government appeared disposed to precipitate events."

"Thus, on Friday, the Turkish army, without provocation, attempted to obtain possession of Anatolia, which was mutually agreed to be neutral territory. It was all owing to the pretensions of the Greeks that this attempt to violate neutral territory was made. The royal government officially notified of the rupture of diplomatic relations, and while the King's minister at Constantinople was only notified at an advanced hour of the fight, the forts of Preveza opened fire at 6 o'clock in the morning on the Hellespont position at Actium and sunk the Greek steamer Macedonia."

"In face of these facts, showing there is little foundation for the assertion of the subversive intent, to the effect that Greece committed acts of hostility, the responsibility for the consequences can in no way rest with the King's government."

THE FAIR WILL.

The Only Remaining Issue Now On Trial.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 19.—The trial of the only remaining issue in the Fair case was begun today. Instead of a contest over the whole estate and a struggle for $20,000,000 dollars, the case having narrowed down to a legal battle over the two pieces of real estate which Mrs. Craven was Senator Fair conveyed to her by deed a few weeks prior to her death.

The administrators and heirs have for the time forgotten their disagreements and in this portion have joined forces against Mrs. Craven, whom they regard as their common enemy.

After considerable discussion by the attorney for the court announced that the question at issue was the alleged forged of the deed. This issue had been raised by the lawyer of the administrators to Mrs. Craven's cross complaint and in so far as the complaint of Miss Virginia Fair raised the same issues the intervenor would be heard. Several days will probably be consumed in securing an advisory jury for Probate Judge Slack.

Disastrous Snow Slide.

SALT LAKE, April 19.—A special to the Tribune from Brigham City, Utah, says a snow slide occurred today at the mine of the Consolidated mining company, just miles north of Brigham City. Captain Ed. May and Wm. Turner, David Howell and John Dalton were also snuffed under the slide, but were taken out alive. The slide covered up the mouth of the tunnel and swept away the blacksmith shop.

SENATE PROCEEDINGS

INDIAN APPROPRIATION BILL FINALLY PASSED.

Amendment Agreed to Establishing an Indian Supply Warehouse at Omaha.

WASHINGON, April 19.—The Senate passed the Indian appropriation bill to-day. It is substantially the same as the bill passed the house and can occasion little division, save on the amendment opening the Uncompahgre Indian reservation. Resolutions of inquiry were agreed to asking the secretary of state as to the operation of the reciprocity treaties made under the McKinley act. Mr. Vest introduced his resolution declaring illegal the recent order of the secretary of the treasury relative to the portar arriving after April 1st. The senator gave his vote of passing the resolution to-morrow and it may afford another vote.

April 19.—(Evening).—The Turkish forces continue to hold the Milouma pass, though it is reported that the Greeks are advancing or making ready to advance to reoccupy the positions from which they were dislodged on Sunday. THE LAW AND THE PREACHER.

The last of Evangelist Johnson's suits has been dismissed, the reverent person's reputation has not been diminished, and he is left precisely where he was when he began, except it is that he has advertised himself as a slanderer somewhat more extensively than he was before advertised. The little mountain has labored and brought forth a mouse; and it was not much of a mouse, either; not a mouse of which this itinerant shepherd need be proud.

However, the statement again refers to the outcome of these actions only with the object of calling attention to a certain phrase of them. In his instructions to the jury Judge Wellborn said in effect that a preacher may deal out slander from his pulpit and that if he does so he is no more exempt from denunciation by the public press than is a man of any other calling.

Of course this is neither new nor startling law, but it is the law that settled Mr. Johnson's aspirations in the direction of a financial salve for his feelings. More than that, it is the law which should serve as a warning to any other reverend person who having dealt out slander, thinks of suing the paper that condemned him for doing so. We would not be understood as suggesting in this that preachers are given to dispensing slander. On the contrary, the slander that emanates from a pulpit is rare. But it is a notorious fact that there is a class of sensational preachers, most of them of the itinerant sort, who weigh their words little if they can but find the sensation for which they hunger. It is this class of preachers who would give heed to the law as enunciated by Judge Wellborn, for it is to this class that denunciations are applied by the press.

We have thus called attention to this law because we feel that it cannot be too clearly understood. It is the duty of the press to condemn wholesale slander, and it is well to understand that no class of persons is exempt from such condemnation. Villification of young girls sounds far better from a pulpit than on a street corner, and the law will tolerate it in one place no more than in the other.

One Ruthven, who advertises himself as an "ex-priest of Rome" and as an "Apostle of Patriotism" — but may Heaven forbid that patriotism ever shall have such an apostle—advertises two lectures in this city today, one "for ladies only" and the other "for men only." The subject which he is to discuss "for ladies only" is "Priests and their victims, or the woman in the confessional," and the announcement of the subject is followed by the further announcement, "Girls under 17 years of age not admitted." It must be nice stuff, must it not, which, coming from the lips of a man, a girl of 17 may hear but her sister of 18 must not hear? Coming from the lips of a man of Ruthven's reputation it must be particularly desirable that women, old or young, should hear it. An address which is for women only should be delivered by women only, or not at all; when it is delivered by a man it brands itself as probably infamous. Ruthven's lectures should not be delivered for lack of an audience. He is unworthy of credence, his record is bad and he should be treated with the contempt which he deserves.

Greece has an army, on a war footing, of 375,377 men; the Turkish army on war footing has 1,103,800 men. The Turkish army outnumbers that of the Greeks four to one. The Greek navy consists of eleven vessels; the Turkish navy has 122 vessels; eleven to one in favor of the Turks. How could a war begin more hopelessly than this for one of the combatants? And yet the great mass of civilized mankind will hope against hope that the Greeks may be the victors. It is a case, like many another, where right and might do not stand hand in hand.

The Alameda Encinal suggests that the recent sale of an immense body of land in Merced and Stanislaus counties to a Rothschild syndicate is not a good thing for California. The Republicans endorse the suggestion. The products of California's soil cannot belong too wholly to Californians; too little of the gain that comes of them cannot go to foreigners. Like the Encinal, "we favor the enactment of a law prohibiting any one except citizens from acquiring real estate in this country."

WALTER S. MILLICK, who made a reputation for himself in the late legislature, has purchased the Pasadena News and henceforth will edit and control that paper. The News always has been an excellent paper, but Mr. Millick is a man of fine ability and it is reasonable to expect that it will be improved under his management. The Republican wishes much prosperity to the News under its new control.

The Republicans and Democrats have united in a municipal campaign at Stockton, and while all the wherewears and therefore are not apparent from this distance, it appears to be a united move against the A.P.A., which has municipal control of the town at present. Judging by the tone of the esteemed contemporaries up there it is likely to be a pretty warm fight.

Such vine hopper is now threatening to do greater damage to this year's raisin crop than the frost did last year. It is to be hoped that the threatened disaster may in some manner be averted, but in the meantime it will be well for growers to keep in mind that the threatened danger exists, and if realized that such crop as they may have will command increased prices.

RANDOM REMARKS.

Here is a problem for you, Willie: Is this itinerant presbyter who has been in the slender line of business somewhat, since two newspapers and a citizens' committee and gets soup, how many newspapers and citizens' committees would he have to sue in order to get a square meal? Take your time and answer carefully, Willie.

The "Christian powers," Charley, constable of Russia, Germany, England, Austria, Turkey, etc., are a "Christian power." All that is very clear is that if Russia, Germany, England and Austria are Christian powers, so also is Turkey, and if the latter is not Christian, neither are the former. They stand in together, you know, Charley.

Queen Victoria's jubilee celebrations is approaching, and Labouchere says of it that "the whole nation and whole intelligentsia of Londoners are directed to seeing gods." Concerning this comment, a London correspondent says: "This is evidently true and the general idea is that the English people are getting more interested in religion than ever before. The Queen is doing her best to make every one except scoundrels of one sort or other feel like a Christian."

All of which points to a very low state of patriotism in the right little tight little isle. And yet it is not very strange if nothing has which has deviated from the right road to money getting still at last come to price Gold Hindoo and that country. Is not this the very condition to which Britain long ago warned the English people that they were coming? When the Britons cease to worship hind cash we may expect less "generous" of one sort or other for making money," but until then the shopkeepers will not fail to put even a Queen's jubilee on sale.

It is announced that few people will be permitted to see Durrahan hanged, none, indeed, except those present by law to witness the execution. It is anticipated further that the Wardens of the prison will be disappointed, if there is not the face of the earth a more cruel or nature than many men the name of this brute is not in the zoology. To go to Quenby and watch this poor wretch as, with faltering steps, he approaches his doom to see him standing in the dock with but one moment between himself and death, is to witness the final struggle, the convulsive movements of the limbs, the slow agony of that saddest of deaths—this is the "pleasure" for which some men petition and intercede. I say that among all the wild creatures which roam and prowl for prey there is no cruelty greater than that which would least of such agony. It is, or should be, an abhorrent growth and an unnatural vice vice. The prison directors have done well in refusing to pander to and feed it. So ill a thing should receive no encouragement.

THE EDITOR APOLOGIZED.

The tall young man who came into the office this morning, from his left hand to his right and said,

"You are the editor of this paper."

"You hadn't deny it. I know you. You are the fellow to whom my sister gave some verses for publication the other day. They were entitled 'My Love's Quest.' They appeared in the paper as 'My Last Love Gained.'

"It's that, danged type-setting machine. It never mind! If that was all there was to it I wouldn't say a word."

The last four lines of the first verse, as it appeared in the manuscript read:

"Hold on! Look at the first four lines of the third verse now. In the manuscript they read:

"Oh love, do love but snitch me back Where all the violets sit, Even though I'm sick, I still would welcome it."

"And here is the way you published it:

"Love could love but snitch me back Where all the violets sit, As chewing gum, my jaws I crack, I still would welcome it."

"I'll fire that blasted type-setter!"

"Wait a minute! The first four lines of the sixth verse were written in this way:

"My loving pangs you may not know, Nor how I love, nor how sweet I grow, Believe the love is sweet, I grow, Believe the love is sweet."

"That, as I have remarked, is the way it reads in the manuscript. Here is the way it reads in your infamious sheet:

"Hold the pan half near to me: For love not snitch me back, My heart is in the soup."

"If that infernal type-setter—"

A SERIOUS SITUATION

A CHANCE TO REFORM.
Four Young Robbers Released Pending Good Behavior.

Arash Azhdarlen, Chester and Chas. Bartholomew and Luo Brown were before Judge Risley yesterday for sentence. They are four of the five young men who were engaged in holding up Chinese and Japanese laborers in the country, and who were arrested about two weeks ago. Brown was represented by W. D. O'Rourke and the others by Col. H. C. Moore.

The time for passing sentence was indefinitely postponed by the court according to stipulation. There is hope that the boys will reform, and they have suffered considerably already. None had ever been in similar trouble before, and it was deemed best to give them another chance. They have been released on bail, and will be allowed to stay pending good behavior. Should they break their parole, in the cases before us, will be passed.

Nothing has been done in the case of Ed Hurtt, the young robber whom Farmer Hayes shot in the arm in capturing him. He is still at the county hospital having the wound treated.

He visited the Burton and other vineyards east of the city, went through Easterly ranches and Alex Gordon's Winery in the foreground, and in the afternoon visited other vineyards west of the city, all of which he found more or less affected by the pest.

It is now known that the hoppers are "old hoppers" from last year's vintage which have survived the winter, and are now lively as ever and exceedingly hungry. Vineyards that were winter ploughed and ploughed down are the least infested with hoppers. This would suggest a future line of preventive policy on the part of vineyardists, but does not offer any present relief.

The investigation will be pursued closely by Professor Woodworth with a view of determining the true character and nature of the thrup and discovering a method for their extermination.

To end fully discussing the matter, bearing in mind of the experts, and of experiments made by members there will be a called meeting of the Farmers' Club at the Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday, the 23d instant, at 1.30 p.m., for the benefit of members only.

All members of the club are earnestly requested to be present prepared to report on the condition of vineyards in their vicinity, the extent of damage done, of remedies applied, and their effect—whether good or bad—and to thoroughly discuss all the features of the situation.

Examinations made yesterday show that the situation is a serious one, more serious in fact than was at first supposed. Even the most conservative vineyardists now admit that the coming vintage is in jeopardy, and that the damage is not confined to any particular section of the country, but everywhere the hoppers swarm over the young shoots, suck out the sap and vitality of the leaves and fruit forms and leave the vines looking either sickly, if it disfigures; the young shoots and fruit forms lopped over, as if bitten or nipped by frost, or, where the damage is greater, the leaves curl up and turn black, as if from blight.

This is the work of the "hold-over" thrup from last year, and since so much damage has been done by this remnant of last year's crop, the vineyardists are naturally very apprehensive about the condition of things when the eggs are laid again.

Professor Woodworth was seen at the luncheon by a REPUBLICAN reporter just as he was writing a report of his investigations for Professor Higard. The Professor stated that the situation was more serious than he had expected, the thrups being more abundant this year than to have ever been before at any time in the spring. It was the general opinion that he had had this insect to produce one of the young leaves and it remained him somewhat of the Santa Clara hopper.

It was the general opinion that he had had this insect to produce one of the young leaves and it remained him somewhat of the Santa Clara hopper.

The Professor stated that the experiments made by him yesterday were not what was to be accomplished with the "hopper-down." An invention that is used in some of the western states to get rid of grass-hoppers. The contrivance will, of course, have to be changed to meet the different conditions here. It consists of a surface on which a sticky preparation is spread.

Where this device is used for grass-hoppers it is dragged along the ground by a horse. The hoppers alight on it, are held fast and die quickly.

IT WAS A GREAT GAME

The K.G.'s and R. & K.'s Play for Sweet Charity.

ABE KUTNER'S TERRIFIC SLIDE
Victory Perched on the Kutner-Goldstein's Bat-On, What Lots of Fun.

Charity baseball is usually a success and Sunday's game between the Kutner-Goldstein Company and White Front Stores nine was no exception to the rule. The public is generally liberal in its patronage of the sports furnished at Athletic Park, but when they are given in the cause of charity, their popularity rises a hundred per cent.

The size of the crowd assembled to witness the game between the K.G.'s and the R. & K.'s was without precedent. Never before was so enthusiastic a gathering of spectators at the park, or one more thoroughly satisfied with the sport furnished than that which rooted, hooted and shouted in and about the bleachers. Everybody seemed to be having "fun" of fun.

There were seventeen official scorers upon the grounds and when the game was concluded no two could agree upon the score. They all were certain that 50 runs had been scored, but the number which each team had tallied was the point in dispute. The best way out of the dilemma was to strike a general average, and this made the score: K.G.'s 52, R. & K.'s 21.

The time of game was 3 hours and 20 minutes and no man on either side lost less than eight pounds of weight.

The game itself battles description, but individual plays of striking brilliancy were made by members of both teams. In the fourth inning Abe Kutner slid 6 feet 6 1/2 inches in his seat and reached third base only amid the applause of the spectators. The ball was in deep right field at the time, but that didn't matter—it was a good slide anyhow.

The score by innings is as follows:

K.G.'s..... 2 3 5 3 4 1 0 2 -21
R. & K.'s..... 0 0 4 1 2 1 0 2 -21

NOTES.—Clifton played a good game at short, at first sight he reminds one—but that's another matter.

Bolser was very strong at the bat, R. & K.'s "didn't do" him" in the sixth but scores twelve runs.

Manager Penn fined himself $10 for poor playing and then retired himself to the field.

"Little" Arthur Rowe would be better appreciated if he would sit on the fence and do his rooting from that vantage ground.

The San Francisco Examiners and Fresno Reviewers play next Sunday. A reversion in baseball circles.

Lots of fun.

After expenses are paid the orphan will receive about $125.

The boy had lots of fun and so did the spectators. The game was certainly a noble one and the efforts of all connected with the game are praiseworthy. The boys did well and are satisfied. The outcome of the game was but a secondary consideration after all.

"A SOLDIER OF FORTUNE."

Otis Skinner Will Present His New Play Friday Night.

The coming engagement of Otis Skinner at the Barion on Friday night should prove one of the most important theatrical events of the season. The play which Mr. Skinner will present is his new and successful romantic drama, "A Soldier of Fortune."

"A Soldier of Fortune" has been one of the most successful of the year's productions and the play is yet handsomely put upon the stage. The story is an exceedingly interesting one, the action taking place in Italy at the beginning of the sixteenth century, a period of history that adapts itself readily to the uses of the stage. Mr. Skinner brings with him an exceedingly well-balanced company, including such well-known players as Frederick Moore, Frank E. Sylvester, John Weeks, W. J. Harrington, Wadsworth Harris, Sarah Trust, Mary Breyer, Edna Adeline and Mandie Durbin. There will be a herald in pants for this engagement.

Otis Skinner will be well off money refunded.

THRIVING SANGER.

Heavy Shipments of Lumber to Outside Points.
From the Sanger Herald.

Sanger is still on the map. The town is doing business at the same old stand and whether or not that business amounts to any considerable factor can best be determined by a glance at Agent E. S. Southworth's books at the Southern Lumber depot, showing the amount of freight forwarded from this place during the past week.

The Sanger Lumber Company shipped two carloads of poles to Fano, which will be utilized in extending the Mt. Whitney telephone line to Bakersfield; also a carload of nails and doors to Los Angeles; two carloads of lumber to Los Angeles, but he had to pay the part of a cold and sarcastic lover, which, I think, was not exactly in his line. With such a sweetheart as Miss Thompson to lure him on the wolver to us was that he didn't quite forget his lines. Brother George—well, as Brother George was not in the play perhaps we had better not speculate on what "might have been."

Lionel Dalton as Arthur had rather a hard part to perform, and in his earnestness got at times that he almost forgot his lines. He gave a good account of himself, however. B. J. Mattier as St. Nicholas Craven, aside from a habit of frequent repetitions of his "one" words, gave a good account of himself. Mr. Montague in the double role of Mr. Pettigrew and Uncle the servant, was well done, especially in the last role, in which he created a good deal of laughter.

The young settings were excellent and the young ladies looked charming in their pretty costumes. The performance was for the benefit of the Episcopal church.

After the comedy the floor was cleared and the young folks enjoyed an hour or more of dancing. Miss Georgia Swain was the pianist of the evening and acquitted herself very creditably.

STEEL PENN.

FIRE NEAR FOWLER.

About 5 o'clock last evening the residents of O. O. Hutchinson and that of his father, two and a half miles north west of Fowler, in Mariposa county, were buried to the ground, and the loss must have been considerable. Part of the furniture was saved by neighbors. No one was at home at the time and it is not known how the fire originated.
